Jesus and the Last Supper
Luke 22:14, 19-20

Granny B was spreading a tablecloth over the picnic table as Pops walked up carrying a picnic basket. Together they set the table and prepared for a feast. Pops put down plates and napkins and Granny B put a few flowers in a vase. Once the table was set, they sat down to wait for Delbert and Lello. They didn't have to wait long.

Delbert called out, "Haw! Hi, Pops! Hi, Granny B!"

"Baa...don't start without us," Lello laughed.

Together, they proudly showed Pops and Granny B all the fruits and vegetables they had gathered from their garden.

"Oh my, look at all the treasures from your garden!" Granny B exclaimed as she looked over the freshly picked food. "This reminds me of the Bible story I read this morning," she added.

"It does?" Lello asked.

Granny B nodded as she began placing the colorful fruits and vegetables on the table. "I read about the last supper Jesus had with His followers," she began.

"The last supper...what is that?" Lello questioned.

Pops answered her, "It was Jesus' last supper before He gave His life for us. It was a very special time with His followers."

"Baa... I wish I could have been there to eat with Jesus," Lello commented.

"Haw! Me, too! I would have brought some of my vegetables and fruit!" Delbert added.

"Granny B," Lello asked, "why was this supper so special?"

"Jesus gave everyone a way to remember Him. As they were eating, Jesus blessed the bread and the cup. Jesus told them to remember Him every time they ate bread and drank from the cup!" Granny B explained.

"Haw! What a great idea. From now on I will think of Jesus when I eat, too!" Delbert exclaimed excitedly.

Pops laughed and rubbed behind Delbert's ears. "After Granny B read that Bible story, we thought it would be fun to have a picnic with both of you," Pops said.

"That's right. Together, we can pray and thank Jesus for all He has done for each one of us," Granny B added.

Lello and Delbert agreed the picnic was a great idea. They helped Granny B and Pops finish setting the table. Once everything was ready, the four stood back and looked at what lay before them. Granny B's freshly baked bread, Pops' grape juice, and from Delbert and Lello's garden—carrots, celery, peppers, tomatoes, and strawberries. Everything looked delicious.

Pops prayed for the food before they began to eat. As they ate, they reminded each other of the many wonderful things Jesus had done.

"Pops and Granny B, thank you for sharing this special supper with us," Delbert said.

"Baa. Yes, and thank you for teaching us about Jesus," Lello added sweetly.

Pops and Granny B smiled. After they ate, the four rested under the shade of a nearby tree while Granny B and Pops took turns sharing more Bible stories with Delbert and Lello.
